Succession Planning for Landowners
The owner dies of a sudden

Ties to the Land is a new step designed to assist family farms, ranches and other family-owned land. It will help you plan for the future of your land and ensure it stays in the family. It's a simple, straightforward process that can be completed in a matter of hours. There are many reasons to tie:

- Landowners may have a strong desire to pass their land on to their children but have not yet done the work necessary to ensure the land.
- Many landowners "don't" object to their children taking over the land but don't want to be the decision maker for the future of the land.
- Landowners may want to ensure their children are able to manage the land and are not being forced to sell the land.
- Children may not be interested in the land and the land may be sold to someone else.
- Landowners may want to ensure their children are able to manage the land and are not being forced to sell the land.
